Jan remembered a sweet incident with her son which convinced her that she’d rather be an "at home Mom" than a dental assistant. On rainy days, she would drive him around his paper route, but on one such day when she returned home from the office, he met her with "Mom, you weren't here." He had two sisters and when the younger went to college, Jan wanted to do something for herself. She decided to take bridge lessons and is today a Ruby Life Master with 1500 plus master points. She also played a lot of bridge on the computer until "I realized that was time I should spend with Bob and I quit." "We enjoy each other's company," he replied.

Bob spent six years with the Air National Guard. He recalls their ALMOST being activated during the second Berlin Crisis, but the main responsibility of the 171st was defending Pittsburgh - a prime target because of the steel industry. "Remember the 'black' snow?"

Just the word "Travel" brought about many memories of favorite trips worldwide. "Mine was the Amazon; China was Bob's," Jan said. "Well, we both liked China. It was such a different culture, but in the three weeks we were there, we determined that it was a very family-oriented society. Children as well as the elders were revered, and education was so important that the children went to school after school." Ask Bob and Jan about the school kids singing "Jingle Bells" for them… or, on that other trip, about walking through the jungle…You will certainly enjoy meeting Jan and Bob.

SHERWOOD OAKS SUBSIDY FUND

It is Sherwood Oaks' stated policy and practice not to discharge residents for inability to pay. Sherwood Oaks is commited to subsidizing residents in need to the extent possible without impairing
the ability of Sherwood Oaks to operate. Residents are permitted to retain up to $40,000 in assets for an individual and $60,000 per couple for eligibility purposes only. Depletion of assets toward these levels will be required. For planning purposes, it is recommended that residents contact me when assets approach $100,000 to begin the application process.

A confidential application (no names)
is provided to the six-person Subsidy Committee for consideration. This committee is comprised of three PLCC
Board members and three Sherwood Oaks residents. When approved, a resident would be asked to sign a subsidy agreement. Subsidy can be renewed annually.

Subsidy payments are posted to the monthly resident statement. Such payments are made from the Sherwood Oaks Subsidy Fund which is comprised of donor-restricted contributions made to Sherwood Oaks for such purpose.
The Subsidy Fund is administered by the Executive Director/CFO and donations invested in accordance with the Sherwood Oaks investment policy.

Currently Sherwood Oaks is subsidizing five residents.

SPRING CONCERT
May 10, 7:15 PM
Auditorium

The spring concert of the Bell Choir and Chorus celebrates the long-awaited spring with some happy songs we’ve been practicing since January. The theme this year: “Just a Simple Melody.” We’re hoping you’ll enjoy the songs as much as we do.

LaVonne McCandlish

A NEW SONG FOR OUR 35th YEAR

Also at the Spring Concert, a new choral song in honor of the 35th anniversary of the founding of Sherwood Oaks will have its premiere. The setting includes the mixed voices of the Chorus and the Bell Choir, directed by Lyn Marsh, the audience, with piano accompaniment and special guest soloist Stephen Schall, baritone soloist with the Mendelssohn Choir of Pittsburgh.

I think that the Sherwood Oaks Community needs its own song, not unlike an Alma Mater. The first two stanzas and the refrain are a compilation of suggestions by Sherwood residents Ellen Brierly, Ruth Becker and me. The third stanza is written by another resident, Tom Horan.

The Refrain sung by everyone after each stanza:

Sherwood Oaks, this place that’s now our home,
A campus of beauty, acres we can roam.
With lake and fountain, swans are living there.
We’re Sherwood Oaks with friendly neighbors who care.

JAZZ FROM SENECA VALLEY
Tuesday, May 9
7:15 PM
Auditorium

The Seneca Valley Jazz Ensemble ONE will be here to entertain us. Director, Robert Matchett, took over the instrumental program at Seneca Valley in 1999 when his father retired from the same position.

He has taken this group to jazz festivals and adjudications throughout the United States where they have consistently been awarded “I” and “Superior” ratings. They have been invited to perform at the PMEA All-State Conference on three separate occasions.

Jazz is an important part of the instrumental music curriculum at Seneca Valley. For the past 23 years, the school district has supported two high school level jazz ensembles. Both groups rehearse three periods a week during the school day. SV Jazz One is comprised of auditioned students in grades 9 –12.

Yes, jazz is alive and well in the Seneca Valley School District and will be with us at Sherwood Oaks in May.

SHERWOOD GIFTS

May is here and spring and summer items are appearing in Sherwood Gifts. There is an assortment of beautiful colored scarves as well as lightweight shrugs to wear on a cool summer evening. The jewelry case has a display of new summer jewelry, and with the end of school approaching, some of these items would make lovely graduation gifts. Around the end of May look for an announcement of a mini-jewelry sale of new jewelry in the open glass case. Signs will be posted to announce the sale. Sherwood Gifts carries a large selection of greeting cards for all occasions, and the candy shelves always carry something to satisfy your sweet tooth. The sundries area displays a variety of items: everything from pencils, to toothpaste, to shoestrings, to envelopes, and more. If you cannot find what you are looking for ask one of the cashiers. A request form will be filled out and in a few days the item will arrive for you.

The Granny’s Attic area is a fun place to browse. You never know what treasure can be found in this area. It is not surprising to see anything from lovely crystal and china to antiques, puzzles, kitchenware, picture frames, umbrellas, and lamps on the shelves. Don’t forget to check the Annex at Unit 156 where the larger items of furniture are displayed.

Due to the cost of service, as soon as our current supply of stamps is sold, Sherwood Gifts will no longer sell U.S. Postage Stamps. Stamps can still be purchased at the front desk, or an envelope can be obtained from the front desk and filled out to order stamps. The envelope, along with payment, can be placed in your U.S. mail box or left at the desk for pick up. The mail person will return the envelope with the stamps to either your U.S mailbox or the front desk.

FOCUS ON THE WORLD
Thursday, May 18
7:15 PM
Auditorium

MAPS MATTER!

“Maps Matter! Let's End Gerrymandering!” is the title of the May Focus on the World program. Sue Broughton will give a presentation about the impact of extreme gerrymandering in Pennsylvania and the effort to create an independent citizens' commission to reform the redistricting process. Ms. Broughton is a member of the League of Women Voters of Greater Pittsburgh and of the Fair Districts Speakers Team. The concern of both groups is that legislative and congressional district maps are drawn in a fair and transparent way so that voters choose their legislators, rather than party leaders choosing voters to advantage their party. Join us for this important and challenging presentation.

In the September 2007 issue of the Acorn (celebrating our 25th anniversary) Margaret McCoy wrote of a bitter cold 1983 Christmas Eve with temps down to 17 degrees below zero when all of the power at Sherwood Oaks went out!! A buffet style dinner was served by candlelight and kept warm by cans of Sterno. Later, residents sang carols in the auditorium, kept warm by a propane heater. Others played bridge while snug-gling in their coats. The outage, caused by a car hitting a transformer, made life interesting until 2:00 AM.

* Favorite parties over the years are centered around food, glorious food — just consider:

Hawaiian and Polynesian Luaus with grilled shrimp, sweet & sour chicken, and mango sorbet;

A very creative and energetic committee put together a 4th of July “Blast” in 1994 that I am sure was not soon forgotten. Events included:

* calliope music circling the grounds;
* a “Sports Fantasia Invitational” with competitions on the putting green and Wimbledon Court; Bocce and Shuffleboard were also played;
* soft drinks, beer, and pretzels were served by the greens and at the Summer House;
* picnic fare was served at noon and a pig roast followed for the evening meal!!
* an afternoon gala party with punch, soft drinks, and snack food in the auditorium featured taped patriotic music and resident Bob Freedman at the piano.
The State Fair theme with hot dogs, pulled pork and strawberry pie — that takes you back years!!

* and who can forget the Fabulous Fifties with fast food, TV dinners, Marilyn Monroe, Elvis and rock and roll, celebrated a few times with cheeseburgers, root beer floats and milkshakes;

— now what is better than ice sculptures and costumed residents and staff? They seem to come out in force for the fall and Halloween. There have been Apple Harvests, a Monster Mash, Foodservice Nightmares, and Mad Hatter’s Halloween themed meals where residents dined on Whole Body Baked Trout, Liver and Onions, March Hare’s fluffy whipped potatoes and desserts like White Rabbit’s Carrot bar cakes;

* one jungle-themed party seemed especially imaginative with Chilled African Purple Potato Soup, Congo River Grilled Tiger Shrimp, Witch Doctor’s Lamb and Cardamom, and a dessert of Speared Fire-Grilled Pineapple over ice cream;

* and guess what — there will be more parties this year too, starting with Cinco de Mayo on May 5.

It is hard to know what the dining staff has in store for us!!

Thanks to archivists Peg and Joe Rychcik for their research and ideas and to Jesse Komara for use of his scrapbook photos recording the events he has coordinated in the past.
The holy month of Ramadan is one of the twelve months of the Arabic calendar, which is 10 days shorter than the standard Gregorian calendar. Therefore, it is not always at the same time of year and can fall in any month of the year. Also, some years it is 30 days in duration but most years it is only 29 days long. In 2017 Ramadan begins on the evening of Friday, May 26, and concludes Sunday evening, June 25.

The correct pronunciation is Ra-ma-zon in Arabic.

Muslims fast from one and a half hours before sunrise until a half-hour after sunset. Fasting consists of no eating, no drinking and no smoking during these hours. The purpose of fasting is to feel the hunger of those who are less fortunate and less able to feed themselves and their families. Preferably you should give your lunch meal to the poor. At the end of the month you give money – as much as you can afford – to centers that feed the poor, much like a food bank. The amount you give should reflect the number of people in your family. People who are either too young (below 9 for girls, 14 for boys) or too old or sick (e.g. diabetic) or who would get sick from fasting are exempt from observing the fast during Ramadan. However, at the end of the month these individuals need to pay twice as much in donation to the local food bank so that God will give good health to each member of the family.

We pray to God each evening to forgive our sins. We know that one of the biggest sins (according to the Koran) is breaking another person’s heart; so during this month we should face this person and ask them for forgiveness directly for whatever we have done to them.

This is the real story about the Muslim’s fasting month of Ramadan.

WHY?
The young ask “Why?”

Why do nations fight for “face”
Risking our entire race?
Why can't people live in peace?
Why can't war and turmoil cease?

Why do some get rich and some stay poor?
Why do those who have fight for more?
Why do people hate their brother?
Why not learn to trust each other?

Why do we waste nature's grants
To improve our circumstance?
Why do cities rot from blight?
Why can't mankind do it right?

The young ask “Why?”
Until they're old … and die.

CANE YOU HEAR ME NOW?

For those of you who enjoy live theatre, let me tell you about some of the aids that are available to help you if you are “hearing-impaired” like me. Barbara and I enjoy going to City Theatre on the South Side, and Sherwood Oaks provides bus transport there.

City specializes in new plays, developing playwrights, and theatre that is a bit “edgy.” You will never see “A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum” there. But the next season boasts a show with the glorious title: “A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Gynecologic-Oncology Unit at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center of New York City.”

The 2016-2017 season has been a particularly good one, in my opinion. Remember Sheri Lewis and her cute hand puppet Lambchop? The hand puppet in the season opener, “Hand to God,” would have eaten Lambchop for lunch. That show was followed by an autobiographical one-woman story about growing up in an apartment over a New York City public library. Next, “The Royale,” one of the best plays I’ve seen in years, told the story of a black boxer challenging the white world heavyweight champ. It was dynamic, vibrant, rhythmic, and engrossing—and not a punch was thrown. And we recently returned from “The Guard,” a play about art, time, and death, focused on Rembrandt’s painting “Aristotle Contemplating the Bust of Homer.”

Reader, I wish you would join us on the bus to these delights!

This year Barbara was tired of me asking “What was it about?” on the way home; so she gathered some information about hearing assistance. The key was running into Kristen Link, Director of Education and Accessibility.

NOTE: Assistive listening devices (sound amplifiers) are available for every performance (They are available in most theaters.) Ask an usher, a house manager or see the box office. During special open captioned performances all dialog and sound effects are presented in real time on a three-foot LED screen adjacent to the stage. And a service I find very helpful: print copies of the scripts may be requested in advance of the performance by emailing Kristen at klinck@citytheatrecompany.org. She will email you PDF copies.

Many other handicap services are available. Go to www.citytheatrecompany.org, click “visit,” then “accessibility.” Subscribe for the season while you are there and join us on the bus!

SPAMMERS AND SCAMMERS

Do you receive annoying calls on your cell or apartment phone offering you wonderful vacations, entertainment, or financial rewards? Have you tried to avoid these annoying calls by registering your telephone number on the “Do-Not-Call” list maintained by the Federal Trade Commission? Having done this, did you think that you would no longer be bothered? Did it work? Not very well.

Spammers are telemarketers trying to sell you something. Scammers are thieves after your money or personal information. The spammers and scammers seem to have no worry that the government will curtail their operations; so they just keep on calling.

At the beginning of this century, Congress passed a series of laws aimed at preventing the spammer and scammer abuses. The “Telemarketing And Consumer Fraud And Abuse Prevention” law recited Congressional findings that:

Our Nation's elderly are too frequently the victims of violent crime, property crime, and consumer and telemarketing fraud.

The Federal Trade Commission, charged with enforcing this law, has created the Do-Not-Call list to carry out this purpose. When your telephone number is on this list, you are not to receive unsolicited calls (with some exceptions, such as charities, political groups, debt collectors and surveys.) However, Congress did not make abusive telemarketing itself a crime justifying fines or imprisonment. It just gave the FTC power to slap the wrists of telemarketers by issuing orders to cease deceptive operations and by bringing criminal contempt actions against telemarketers who do not comply. You can view the many civil actions brought against offending telemarketers by going to the FTC webpage at ftc.gov, subsections “Enforcement” and “Cases and Proceedings.” The webpage also provides SCAM ALERTS describing various schemes used by the thieves.

Despite the government’s efforts, the spammers and scammers just keep on calling, some by electronic “robots” and some by live persons. So how do you protect yourself? It is easy when you see that the caller is a robot. You can listen to the robot if you wish, and then hang up. But if a live person calls you, it is my personal rule not to engage this person in conversation. Some people want to scold the caller and point out that their telephone is on the “Do-Not-Call” list. This is a waste of time and breath. The caller knows this or does not care. Such is the nature of lawbreakers. The risk of speaking to these lawbreakers is that some are recording your voice, so that when you say “yes,” they will use that recorded sound when scamming a business into thinking that you are agreeing to whatever rip off is being negotiated in your name and on your account. My rule is that when the caller is identified as a spammer or scammer (and this should happen very quickly), just hang up. That is being no ruder than the caller was by calling you. And why do these arrogant people think that anyone would want to deal with a law-breaker?
There are several methods of self-help in reducing this threat and annoyance. On your apartment telephone you can install a recording machine, and request that the caller leave a message that you will respond to. Set the number of rings, before the message begins, to one ring. You will be surprised at how many calls you get where no message is left (Guess who is calling?)

On your mobile cellphone (iPhone and the like), there are “apps” that can filter out the lawbreakers. On my iPhone, I use “MrNumber” which is free and maintains a database of abusing phone numbers. When one shows up on your device, MrNumber tells you, and you can simply dismiss the call without answering.

There is another “app” called “Nomorobo” that filters out robot calls. This service costs about $20 a year, and it really works! If you need further information, visit the FTC webpage or go to the Sherwood Oaks Computer Lab on the Lower Level of the Center during its weekday hours and someone there will be glad to help you.

Worth the Time
by Ed Vidt

Three Days in January
Bret Baier (Bai)

What a strange book!! It contains a final chapter titled "The Last Word." This chapter is all about Trump as our President-elect, and details his first visit to the White House to meet with Obama. But the book's main subject is a detailed review of Eisenhower's final address to the nation as he was leaving the presidency!! The two subjects interact because Trump is almost totally at odds with Eisenhower's advice to future presidents. It is disturbing to read the very, very good advice Eisenhower provides and compare it with Trump's really mixed up understanding of how things ought to be changed in how our government works. Read this at your peril.

Pittsburgh, Then and Now
W. C. Kidney (Kid)

I was born in Pittsburgh 89 years ago! I grew up there. This picture book is chock full of memories for anyone who lived in Pittsburgh like me. The Block House and how it was resurrected. The Wabash Railroad bridge and Terminal. Hornes, Kaufmanns, Frank & Seders, Gimbels, Rosenbaums, etc. The Cathedral of Learning (i.e., the heights of ignorance). The Hill and how it was destroyed, Pitt Stadium, The Civic Arena, The Nixon. Photos of all of these and much more. I loved it.

German Pittsburgh
M. R. Shaughnessy (Sha)

All about the people who worked hard and the places where they worked in Pittsburgh: in the Steel (and Beer) business in the last century. Not the big names (Carnegie, Jones, etc.) but names like Eberhardt and Heinz and Wohleber. My mother (who was born in Germany) is in the photo on page 105, with her German girlfriends from the Evangelical Church on Smithfield St. How the workers and the singers and the beer drinkers all socialized with and eventually blended in with the other folks prior to WWII is well displayed in this little gem of a book.

HOW’S THAT OLD SPARE TIRE?
(The one in the car.)

A little while ago I was going down the PA turnpike when I heard a loud “pop.” I had blown the left rear tire. When I came to a stop the tire was in three pieces. I called AAA. When the guy arrived we discovered that there was no air in the spare. Fortunately, the service man had a compressor in his truck; so he pumped up the tire and I was on my way. Moral of the story? When you get your car serviced, make sure your dealer checks the spare tire pressure.

One more thing, when you buy a new car, some dealers, instead of supplying a spare, give you an “Emergency Tire Repair Kit.” In my circumstance, the kit would have been useless. Check this out when you buy a new car.

Spotlight on New Books
The Book Selection Committee
Tom Fararo, Chair

These recently purchased library books are on display on a shelf labeled new books. If a book you seek is not there, you can fill out a reserve slip.

Twelve Angry Librarians: A Cat in the Stacks Mystery by Miranda James. Fiction. A reviewer writes, “This is the first book I have read by Miranda James and I must say unequivocally, it will not be my last! [It] has all my must haves for a cozy mystery read: engaging storyline, interesting and spunky characters (who would have thought librarians were so interesting?) and a charming pet.”

In the Name of the Family by Sarah Dunant. Fiction. An historical novel about the Borgias that “makes them live again…Dunant does a terrific job of showing us what makes them tick — both directly and through the eyes of Machiavelli, then an apparatchik for the city of Florence” (Washington Post).

Say Nothing by Brad Parks. Fiction. A judge is about to make an important ruling when his 6-year-old twins are kidnapped. This “big, ambitious, sometimes troubling, always suspenseful new novel, portrays an American family besieged by evil” (Washington Post).

Snowblind by Ragnar Jonasson. Fiction. This whodunit in an Icelandic setting “puts a lively, sophisticated spin on the Agatha Christie model” (Kirkus).

High Noon: The Hollywood Blacklist and the Making of an American Classic by Glenn Frankel. Nonfiction. Most of us have forgotten – if we ever knew – how controversial this film was in its time. Blacklisted during filming, the producer had little support in the town, that is, Hollywood. He later said, “I became the Gary Cooper character.” “A breathless style makes for compelling reading.” (Publishers Weekly).

The Hidden Life of Trees: What They Feel, How They Communicate — Discoveries from a Secret World by Peter Wohlleben. Nonfiction. A forest is a social network of trees that “talk” to each other. This is the theme of “this fascinating book [that] will intrigue readers who love a walk through the woods” (Kirkus). The author is a German career forest ranger who draws upon his experience and on science.

A Piece of the World by Christina Baker Kline. Fiction. A woman in a famous painting is given a fictional life in this novel that “delivers a character portrait that is painterly, sensuous, and sympathetic” (Kirkus). (The painting is Christina’s World by Andrew Wyeth.)
Leading Chapel Services during the month of May will be the following:

May 7 – The Rev. Connie Frierson, Pastor, Calvin Presbyterian Church, Zelienople.
May 14 – The Rev. Moni McIntyre, Calvary Episcopal Church, Pittsburgh.
May 21 – The Rev. Scott Bryte, Pastor, Berkeley Hills Lutheran Church.
May 28 – The Rev. Jamie Kendrew, Pastor, Christ Church at Grove Farm, Sewickley.

We encourage folks to bring a friend to these meaningful services. We like to have a large congregation for the ministers who give freely of their time to help us honor the Sabbath.

The Chapel Committee is always looking for resident pianists who can help at chapel services on Sunday at 2:00. We have four loyal pianists at this time, but to lighten their load we would like a couple more.

The music part of the service consists of a 20 minute Prelude, 2 Hymns, and a 5 minute Postlude — about one hour total and once every 4-6 weeks. If you can help, please call Agnes Peebles (8324) or me.
